PI or responsible person (head of the study)

Prof. Dr. Melanie Uth

Subject area

Sociolinguistics, syntax, language variation.

Method / Type of data

This dataset comprises three types of data:

- Gap filling task
- Acceptability judgment task
- Sociolinguistic interview

Participants (of the study)

32 adult monolingual speakers of Spanish.

Short description (of the study)

The gap filling task consisted of a written presentation of the stimulus to be completed orally following an auditive prompt recorded by a native speaker. The task included a total of 12 target items and 36 fillers. The items involved sentences with oblique relative clauses, in which the complementizer was missing. The judgment task explored the acceptability of various relative complementizers in oblique relative clauses. Participants were presented with written sentences, and asked to judge them on a 7-point Likert scale. The sociolinguistic interviews involved questions on cultural topics and were conducted as a dialogue between the speaker and one of the researchers.
